Viewpoints On Fairness

By LT. GEN. LEWIS B. HERSHEY
Director, Selective Service System

There has been criticism of the operation of the Selective Service System because it is "unfair." These critics have been most general in any methods to make it more "fair." Words such as "unfair," "discriminated against," and "inequality" are frequently used without any effort made by the writer or reader to define these terms.

Generally, these terms are used when someone is required to do something. The something required to be done is not required of everyone; therefore, it is unfair. It should be noted that the unfairness is illustrated by comparison with someone who is not required to do this something or at least not at that particular time.

The term "unfair" can be looked at from at least three viewpoints. First, from the standpoint of one who is required to do something; secondly, from the ones who are not compelled to do this something; and lastly, from a view, such as the viewpoint of the group, be it community, state, or nation.

It can be said that from the first viewpoint everything of a hardship nature is unfair. From the second viewpoint nothing is unfair, and from the third viewpoint, it depends on what the group gains by the action, or what it loses if the action is not taken.

A democratic society can only be of value to its members if it succeeds. If it fails to succeed, the citizens will be forced to turn to all its enemies, who would also eat the citizens to be discriminated against inasmuch as they would lose the freedoms and the privileges of a democratic society. For the same reason, they might well claim that the loss of a democratic society to them was inequitable.

Somewhat Heavy Loads

Because democratic societies must be maintained many things must be done by the citizens. These things constitute duties. Age, sex, health, capacities, all are factors as to whether some citizens can perform certain duties of citizenship at a given time. Some citizens are too old, too young, or do not have the physical or mental capacity to perform their duties. There are citizens unable to perform their duties as citizens. There is inherent unfairness in the bearing of a disproportionate share of obligations by any citizen, but it is the usual not the exception.

Society has long recognized this and has provided compensatory factors. The aged has been cared for because of what they have contributed to their offspring and to society in general. Children are protected for what they may do in the future. The males have, through the ages, generally gone forth, especially the younger ones, to keep the enemy from the homes where the women guarded and cared for the children. It has been a fact that the men who went to war did not believe they gave more than they received, but also believed that there was no other association available to them that gave as much.

Society has given preferences of many kinds to veterans to try to redress this overgiving of the serviceman. Many times the individual veterans believe his reward unfair because it was too small. At the same time the nonveteran believed it unfair because it gave too much.

There are many times when an enlisted man feels he is discriminated against by officers even though he would not want to be. Everywhere in life individuals feel that life has been unfair to them when they compare what they have with what some other person has. There is no question that individuals vary more widely in their talents than they do in their desires. So it is not unusual for a person to feel unfairness when others are given tasks they cannot undertake because they simply cannot do them.

National survival is a must but many cannot, for educational, physical, or moral reasons, participate in a particular survival effort. Certainly the fit can believe he is discriminated against because he must serve, and those who are not permitted to serve caught on the short end of being unfairly treated because they are not permitted to serve.

The time element enters into the charges of unfairness, and the critics consider no time except now. Society, in general, and the support of the Armed Forces, in particular, require a wide-range of specialists. The number of the specialists and the time demand for the assignment used in training these individuals during the ten or fifteen years before the need. The reason for college student deferments lies in this need.

Students are deferred because a college graduate is considered to be a more valuable citizen to his nation. His capacities should be utilized to develop their talents to the maximum. More than a high school graduate. If this is not true, there are tragic mistakes being made around campuses by representatives of corporations bidding for the services of these young men. It would be interesting to count the numbers and evaluate the contributions of the young men deferred for college during the past 15 years. It would be enlightening to some to consider what medical, scientific, and engineering development would have been without them.

The time has come for society to take a realistic view of the salaries and standards which our policemen are required to work under.

Today's policemen are in a profession, crime is expensive and its solution is a highly technical problem. The record of the local police department is excellent, but the most remarkable under a high personnel turnover for many years and speaks well for the system of selecting employees through examination over a six month probationary period.

A starting salary of only $392.50 per month is not sufficient to compete and hold individual employees in the competitive market. Violence is increasing and if a community remains relatively free, then their first line of defense is the police officer.

Salaries and educational standards for police must rise substantially if the profession is to carry out its assigned responsibilities, that of protecting the public interest and safety.

The FBI report last year shows that 2.75 million "serious crimes" occurred in the United States or a 58% rise in serious crimes.

Most of the cases are by repeaters and arise in municipal and state courts not under Federal Code.

Today the police department is able to offer local officers considerable increased salaries and succeed many times in getting the better trained individual.

Today the police to improve his knowledge and experience and thereby put himself in a position to be promoted—he has the opportunity to buy a slice of the company through the stock purchase plan and watch his dollars grow as the company earns its money. He also has the obligation to himself as well as to the company to get out if he is unhappy or if he can better himself elsewhere. Most of all, if he wants a bigger slice he should earn it. I don't feel that they should take all of the company's profit and split it among the employees—that is not what a business is for.

They should get periodic pay raises as the productivity and economic situation warrant. This is accepted and agreed upon by the companies as well as the unions.

I guess I feel that the biggest problems we have today are two—that everyone wants the world on a platter, and no one, at least in this country, is hungry enough.

"No One In This Country Hungry Enough"

A TWA employee for 25 years writes his feelings about the airline strike. We felt it worth sharing with you.

Friday

Dear Mom:

The mechanics strike is in its 15th day.

No doubt there were, as there always is, two sides to the story, but it is rapidly getting to the point where it looks like someone holding a club and refusing to talk.

There comes a point where the individual must honestly approach the problem on the basis of whose running the show.

The airlines have an obligation in three areas: first, to the public to provide safe, comfortable and frequent transportation; to their stockholders the responsibility and obligation to make money, or otherwise known as a profit on their investment; to the employees to provide them with a reasonable return for their efforts in keeping with the current economic status of the job; to provide a safe place to work, and to show concern for their general welfare now and in the future.

This is not the day of or for blood letting—one is one being abused or starving as they go about their daily chores.

It appears to me that if the individual worker wants a bigger piece of the pie he has two alternatives, to improve his knowledge and experience and thereby put himself in a position to be promoted—he has the opportunity to buy a slice of the company through the stock purchase plan and watch his dollars grow as the company earns its money. He also has the obligation to himself as well as to the company to get out if he is unhappy or if he can better himself elsewhere. Most of all, if he wants a bigger slice he should earn it. I don't feel that they should take all of the company's profit and split it among the employees—that is not what a business is for.

They should get periodic pay raises as the productivity and economic situation warrant. This is accepted and agreed upon by the companies as well as the unions.

I guess I feel that the biggest problems we have today are two—that everyone wants the world on a platter, and no one, at least in this country, is hungry enough.

It bugs me to find that the vacuum sweepers—washing machines—dryers—televisions sets, etc., each of us has looked forward to and hoped for years before we were able to buy them are now accepted as required items within the first 2 days of marriage.

It also bugs me to have everyone looking to Uncle for "what he will do for me" instead of me getting my hands dirty and sweating a little to make a living.

I guess to get to a case close to the home the boys do not know why they are on strike — do not know from the Union end what the issues are — and haven't yet got hungry enough to realize what it's all about.

I'm not hungry either. I'm still being paid and I'm torn between fussing about the fact that the best the boys can do is work at temporary jobs until this blows over and being disgusted because any number of workers have found side jobs which don't pay as well, have no security, no picture, no obligation to the individual, but do provide an opportunity to eat while they thumb their noses at the job they left because each one of these essentials wasn't as big as they thought it should be, and meantime go into a panic if these same outfits won't provide them with free housing and food while they refuse to work.

I wouldn't have worked for TWA for twenty-five years if I didn't think it a pretty good outfit to work for and even today the quitting line is a sight shorter than the hiring line.

I realize that any number of the benefits we enjoy today are the result of Union demands in the past, but I am also inclined to wonder like the Vermonter who questioned the doctor bill—suggested that he didn't mind paying for the doctor's education but perhaps he should not have to shoulder the entire burden or pay for it all in one visit.

Now how did I get running off at the mouth about the strike—when all I really meant to do was to tell you that we enjoyed our short telephone chat. There looks to be no hope that we can make the visit this summer. We may not be flying and my vacation comes up in a little better than two weeks.

If you have the opportunity this week's Time magazine featured Tillington and the airlines. Some one back there has no doubt called it to your attention but if you haven't seen it I'll send you a copy.

Love,
George.

Thought Provoking

With emergency ambulance care partially solved by the City of Belle Glade assuming responsibility within the city limits, the problem remains in the county area.

Since budget time is here for our taxing districts such as the hospital district and the county commission, would it not be appropriate for some consultations to be held to determine who is going to take on this job?

It would seem proper for some funds to be included even to be able to contract either with the city or a funeral home in order to provide this county coverage. Soon or later, there will be a severe accident and arguing about whose responsibility it is to provide the service will be no excuse.

The county commission says the law keeps them from doing anything until the 1967 legislature meets next April. Since the Northwestern Hospital District at Pahokee has contracted with the Wetherington Funeral Home to serve their district, our hospital district might provide now in the budget for service to our area.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says, "Law enforcement today is being degraded, purposely in many instances, by the widespread and indiscriminate use of the term 'police brutality.'

"Competition is healthy," says James D. Rutschman, president of the Kansas Restaurant Association. "It keeps us on our toes — it promotes better service and methods of doing business"

In 1959 in the United States there were 4,105,000 farms averaging 288 acres in size. Nation's Agriculture reports a continuing trend of fewer but larger farms in America. This year the number 3,286,000 with an average acreage of 350 — a 20 per cent decline.

Speaking of inflation on the floor of the Senate recently, U.S. Senator Peter H. Dominick of Colorado said: "It strikes me that nothing very effective has been done, while at the same time some ideas have been urged which will not cure the problem at all, but will make it worse."

440 Pre-School Children Complete

Operation Headstart On August 5

Four hundred and forty pre-school children in the Glades area are looking forward to a successful year in the first grade in the community Operation Headstart, which starts on August 5.

The eight week project was a joint endeavor of the federal government and the Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction.

Headstart is hailed nationally and locally as an outstanding summer program for children who would not have had pre-school experience that prepares them for success in the first grade. The Glades Area had five centers taught by twenty-seven professional teachers assisted by aides. Most of the children were transported by bus to the five school centers at Canal Point, Pa-hokee, Belle Glade and South Bay.

The Glades Area coordinator for the Glades Area states that the excellence of the program exceeded that of last summer. The teachers profited by their months of full summer and additional workshop training. They were able to provide a better program because of greater services for the children as well as the addition of buses for school trips. Trips were made to local points of interest as well as to the Science Museum and Children's Zoo in West Palm Beach.

EXPERIENCES

Many enriching experiences and readiness activities were provided by the teachers for the children in a wide variety of advanced school day. Services for speech improvement, two traveling music teachers, and two case workers, were provided. All the facilities of the school were used in instructing the children. They saw films and filmstrips, heard recordings, and heard themselves on tape recorders. Southern Bell provided telephone kits that were very valuable.

WHAT IS AN AD?

(From the Jensen Beach Mirror)
More people read the ads in a newspaper than the news stories. Is it little funny? Well, it's true according to national surveys.

I read an interesting thing by Walter C. Kurn of the Chicago Tribune. He asked what an ad is to him. I liked it, and I think you will too:

"It's born in a far-off forest to the ringing cry of 'Timber!' And before it dies it has had its usefulness to the tune of a ringing cash register."

TO THE BUSINESSMAN
To the businessman, it's a newspaper ad that brings the goods in his store to the public.

A newspaper ad is that which makes a tired salesperson spring to life and shanks a weary economy awake.

A newspaper ad is a student cry or a discourse more hawkish its wares, or it is the soft whisper of a blue chip's institutional message.

A newspaper ad is a mother finding that beauty treatment she always wanted, or it's dad selling those new shoes he wanted.

A newspaper ad is shopping in the comfort of our breakfast room, or braving the weather because that's a must to make a living.

"My," exclaimed little Freddie, "What happened to the flea?"

12,000 Witnesses Expected At District Convention

Miami Beach, Florida will be the site of the "God's Son" Convention. District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses this summer, August 24-28, announced Jean C. Rainbow, overseer of the Belle Glade congregation.

The District Convention will be held in the Miami Beach Convention Hall, location of the annual Miss Universe contest.

This one of 13 conventions held this year in the United States and Canada sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society. It will have an attendance of more than 12,000 coming from over 35 states and 5 countries.

Rainbow advised the local congregation to begin making room reservations now if they have not already done so, as attendance is expected to go higher. "The thrilling program at the first convention in Toronto, Canada, held earlier this summer, has heightened interest in the meeting at Miami Beach," he said.

Rainbow reported that over 600 volunteer workers from Miami area congregations have been working since July 1 to obtain sufficient accommodations for the delegates.

Arts and crafts items included in the displays were wooden plaques, made of dried beans, dried gourds, rice, jewel cases, made of cigar boxes, covered with macaroni and shelaced, hot dish holders, hot dish mats made from ice cream sticks, and papercake boxes from shoe boxes.

Each child was presented a polaroid picture, taken by J. K. Baker.

Mrs. H. C. Danner was supervisor and the assistance of Indiana, the First Baptist and of the Chapel Circles of the First Baptist church served refreshments daily to the children.

Christian Science Churches Presents Bible Lesson

"Soul" is the subject of the Biblical Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy 32:45, "So I fed you, you to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul."

Readings from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will be included.

"The Divine Being must be reflected by man—else man is not divine in any sense. The patient, tender, and true One "allogether lovely" but to eternity, and demands absolute consecration of thought, energy, and desire."

Youth Group To Present

"A Man Called Peter"

"A Man Called Peter" served as a 3-Act Play, Friday night, August 12th at the Northwood Baptist Church, located at 1425 N.E. 20th Street, West Palm Beach.

The youth of the church, the story of the famous play, will present the play at the church, located at 1425 N.E. 20th Street, West Palm Beach.

GOOD MEN DO NOTHING?

If all of us who believe the Bible were as active in our cause of righteousness as our ancestors are in working for our destruction, the future of the nation would be much brighter.

One wise man has said, "All that is necessary for evil to triumph is that good men do nothing."

What are you doing?

Salvation

"And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved."

—Joel 2:28-32

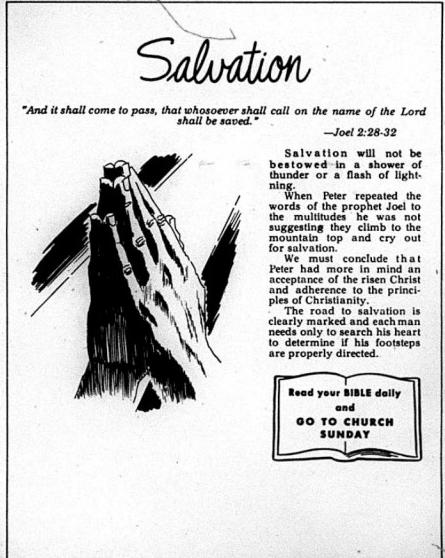

Salvation will not be bestowed in a shower of thunder or a flash of lightning.

When Peter repeated the words of the prophet Joel to the multitudes he was not suggesting they climb to the mountain top and cry out for salvation.

We must conclude that Peter had not in mind an elevation of the soul, and adherence to the principles of Christianity.

The road to salvation is clearly marked and each man needs only to search his heart to determine if his footsteps are properly directed.

"One Of The First Women To Live On The South Shore Of The Lake" City Of Belle Glade Department Reports

Louise Lockmiller

By Lawrence E. Will

This issue of South Louisa Lockmiller reminds us that it was not many years ago that the shores of Lake Okeechobee first began to be inhabited. Although only a girl of 13 at the time, she was one of the first women ever to live on the south shore of this lake. Her brother, Arthur Wells, founder of the town of Belle Glade and its first mayor, had cleared a little land and began to farm at what then was known only as Lockmiller's Cove, now Bean Creek. Before long he and his wife went to live in France where he had induced his father, Joseph Reuben Wells, to come here and help him down his "squatter's claim".

Joseph had three daughters from his first marriage, all known for their work as waitresses, manager or owner of no less than half a dozen restaurants in Belle Glade, South Bay and even in Pa-

Glade.

Their arrival is recorded in a Cracker History of Okeechobee—

"The boat landed

there after dark at Lockmiller's packing house, far offshore, from which they were rowed to the muddy beach.

Their new home, they discovered, was two tarpaper shacks, one in mud and shingle for the girl while a larger one with a paper roof was the family residence. Both, however, had floors not uncommon on the lake, made of packed mud and from brush.

Muck fires were so common on the ridge and they burned so deep that this was often used for surfacing driveways after folks got trucks.

The Wells girls were used to country life. The hooting of owls and the belling of alligators didn't faze them. They just sat back and enjoyed the view.

Louise gave up her business activities, and devoted herself to her flower garden, the pride of the neighborhood. To her many years in the restaurant work, there are few women who are better known in this neighborhood. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, so 'tis said, but her pleasing disposition charmed both women and men, for she was loved and respected by all. Her friendly gate, having swung wide open, and if angels like to eat Okeechobee catfish, Louise will be right on hand to serve them.

Tragic Accident Claims Life Of 14-Year Old Boy

A tragic accident claimed the life of 14 year-old Timmy Clevering, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clevering, of 618 South Lake Harbor last Saturday.

Timmy was apparently electrocuted when he grabbed hold of a television antenna while skating on the front porch at a friend's home. He fell to the ground still holding the mast and calling for help.

Patrolman Donald Barnes of the Sheriff's Department was driving by at the time, heard the boy's cries, stopped and rushed him to the hospital.

Timmy was an eight grade student at Belle Glade Junior High School last year.

City Hall Brief

Taxes

By Rep. E. S. Roberts

Property taxes have been a subject of controversy, but even a casual reader of the news media today may be aware that there is an unusual amount of confusion over this subject.

Local governments depend upon property tax assessments of such magnitude that proposals to replace this source seems unrealistic.

In 1965, the counties, municipalities, school districts in Florida assessed more than $600 million for the current fiscal year. This is more than twice as much as collections from the 3% state sales tax.

As much as we would like to say otherwise, there is no simple answer to why this is so. For example, the city of Belle Glade has a lower tax rate than twice as much as collections from the 3% state sales tax.

The commissioners gave approval to a corrected lease for twenty years between the Belle Glade Jaycees and the city for land at the Little League baseball field for construction of a clubhouse.

Andrew Mollo's request

"The Farm Front"

By Doyle Conner

The United States is the world's largest beef producer — and yet, our appetite for beef is so enormous that we are also the world's largest importer of the commodity.

One-third of the world's beef supply is produced in the United States. But we also import about one-fourth of all the imports.

Americans have the greatest variety of foods with which to plan well-rounded diets — yet our beef consumption is second highest on a per capita basis. The peak was reached in 1964 when the per capita rate was 107 pounds, and last year it was 104. Last year, Americans ate very little beef, as much again.

Contrast this with Asia, where poverty, meager production and even religious concepts are factors in the skimpy intake of meat of less than 10 pounds of beef per year. And where we have a full complement of fruits, nuts, and vegetables to round out the American menu, the Asian must rely mainly on grains.

The per capita beef consumption in the U. S. is not the highest in the world, though. In South America, Argentines ate beef at the rate of up to 180 pounds — Uruguayans 181 pounds — Paraguayans 114 pounds — New Zealanders 123 pounds — and Australians 108 pounds.

Many factors contribute to the consumption patterns of these countries: the various economic factors, availability, comparative prices, and the consumer income with which to buy.

Government policies play a major role. For example, Argentina's rate has fallen from that of 190 pounds to 153 in 1964 before going back to 173 pounds in 1965. This was because Argentina thought their country could sustain exports through such measures as enforced "meatless days" among its citizens.

Because of its enormous appetite for beef, the world's largest producer is not an important exporter at the present time.

The United States exports over $1 billion worth of beef, while exporting only $4 million.

Most of the exports were in live cattle actually, while the imports primarily were

Song Recorded By 8 Year-Old

Gail Murray, an 8-year-old Belle Glade girl wants to sing professionally. She has already begun her career and has recorded a single released two weeks ago.

The recording was made in Nashville, Tennessee. Her Mother promised her a swim in their motel pool if she would sing. Once good, the record was cut, and Gail went swimming when she got back, at 2 a.m.

"A Purple Heart", one of the songs on the record, was arranged by Gail's late father, Hudson Murray, a singer and song composer. Gail's stepmother, Esther, are proud of Gail and her parents live at 516 SW 10 St. in Belle Glade.

Scholarship Awarded Mike Shiver

Winn-Dixie Farm Bureau青年 Scholarship awards and a $500 check to be used toward his college education at the Everglades Farm Bureau meeting Monday night. Contestants were judged on school achievement and family background.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Shiver of South Wing, Fla. He plans to attend Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, Georgia, this fall.

Michael, burns, drowning and lightning are the leading causes of accidental deaths on farms in Florida.

Michael Shiver placed third in the state-wide competition. As you begin to wonder if someday it will be a booming business venture, or a kind size "spectator sport", when enough pilots such as Draper come along with enough enthusiasm for work, and nerves of steel to perform these night-time acrobatics over the fields of the Glades farmers.

At the same time, the number of people devoting time to Florida are developing even greater percentages of their time and money to the outdoors — and that generates a great sport fishing, says the magazine.

"Fishing," says Florida Trend, "is one of the top three answers to why tourists come to Florida. The other two are beaches and swimming."

Cattle Market Prices Steady

"Prices remained steady at Glades Livestock Market," said Carlomino, manager, "Supply was off more than the demand. Guess the rainy weather has had some effect on the amount of cattle for sale."

He stated the price of steers averaged higher calves, which were a little weaker, off maybe 25 cents.

The offering however was 441 head for a total of $45,500.53. There were 57 percent of all cattle and 43 percent to stockers.

(Special)—With the start of the school year, farmers are reminded that children under 16 may work only outside school hours. This is in accordance with the Fair Labor Standards Act.

"This law helps the migrant as well as the local child to get the education which is essential in today's economy," Regional Director Henry A. Huettner said. "It also succeeds in getting the school children to attend school hours in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act," he added.

DOWN SHE GOES!

The old Dixiana building at the corner of Main and Avenue E is no longer . . . a few giant sweeps with a bulldozer Monday demolished the once popular eating and meeting place.

The corner of Main and Avenue E is taking on a clean-swept look as the ground is leveled following the building's destruction and has stood vacant for the past two years.

Mixed feelings were expressed as the bulldozer rapidly crushed the ground.

In the days in this dozen + steel hamburger stand, originally started by David Evans, brother of William Evans, Belle Glade, who is now living in Ft. Pierce.

A subsequent owner couldn't make it without operating with a beer license, which the present owner, Arthur Wells, deemed objectionable. That proprietorship was of short duration.

During the forties the Buckles operated their own operation. Mrs. Burles Lockelder, (sister of Arthur Wells) whose death preceded by only a few days the destruction of the building, operated the building simultaneously with the building of her daughters Dorothy and Juanita. A service station, operated by the late Harvey Armstrong, occupied the corner site adjoining the lunch room.

Obtaining a lease on the service station site, Joel Bass, with the help of his wife Louise, designed, built, furnished and equipped the south wing dining room.

Exorbitant lease terms on the property later forced the Bass family to abandon the building and remodeled their present home across the street and east of their original restaurant.

Down with the old...on with the new...is the price of progress.

With the demolition of the original Dixiana location, Belle Glade's beautiful

We all like to build our home a solid foundation. We also value the security that comes with knowing the things we buy and own will give good service and last for a long, long time.

Something special is working for us in the local business community. Not only because we can buy the products we need from someone we know — on an established and reliable basis, but our objective is to keep our customers happy and satisfied. We can also buy name brand items — products which bear a warranty or a guarantee; the manufacturer's expression of confidence that the product will do the job for which it is intended.

If you are buying a service rather than a specific product, you don't have to take a chance here, either. We can give you the confidence to an established, reputable business or service company with the community.

Let's face it. Folks in business around here are principally interested in folks around here.

County CommissionersCorner

E. W. "BUD" WEAVER

County Commissioner District No. 5

County Commissioners corner
Many of the situations that the citizens of Palm Beach County find themselves in, from a governmental standpoint, and many of the misunderstandings that arise, are due largely, in part, to the fact that quite a few of our citizens are not aware of the function of County Government as they should be. As Commissioner of District 5, I would like to bring to the attention of the people in District 5, that the Board of County Commissioners meet each Tuesday morning, except when Tuesday falls on a holiday, at 9:30 in the Court House in West Palm Beach. The meetings are open to the public and an invitation is hereby extended to any and all that are in the area to stop and sit in on the meetings and try to acquaint themselves with how their County business is conducted. I think it would be well if any person in the Glades had the time, that they would delegate themselves as sort of an unofficial observer for the Glades area and sit in on these meetings. Many towns and areas such as Riviera Beach, West Palm Beach, Boynton Beach and Delray, have a representative that regularly attends these meetings as an observer and reports back to their respective cities if anything of interest comes up that effects them. This is one of the ways they have of keeping abreast of what is going on at the governmental level of County business. I am sure it would be of great advantage to any who care to attend. It would add to each persons education in County Government.

Preparations are being made for paving of 8 1/2's of a mile of the Miami Canal Road, running south from old SR 80 in Lake Harbor. The main purpose in paving this particular piece of road is that the road runs on the top of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District's levee, lying on the west side of the Miami Canal and paving will prevent the further erosion and the reduction in elevation of the Flood Control District's levee.

An interesting suggestion has been made in connection with the development of the Lake Harbor Park. After an inspection trip in the Lake Harbor area, Mr. John Goss, Director, Palm Beach County Parks and Mr. Dick VanZapp, County Parks Landscape Architect, have suggested that the residents of the Lake Harbor begin now, to start cuttings and plantings of the various beautiful hibiscus, crotons, and other plants that could be used in the landscaping of the Lake Harbor Park. I feel that this is an excellent suggestion and would give our local citizens a kinship and a sense of participation in the park's development.

At the regular meeting of the County Commissioners, on Tues. August 8, I moved that Commissioner VanKessel be appointed as the Chairman of a Budget Review Board with the responsibility of gathering an additional member of the Board to serve with him and to finalize the same procedure that the Board was forced to follow last year after six weeks of review with no appreciable progress. The identical situation has existed in examining this year's budget and makes it necessary that some action of this nature be taken. Mr. VanKessel selected me to work with him in the preparation of this year's budget. My feelings this year in regards to the County Commission's Budget, are the same as they were last year when I served in a similar capacity with Commissioner Warren. We feel that every effort must be made to hold this budget down to a minimum, and at the same time enable the County Commissioners to provide those services that they are obliged to furnish to the citizens of our County. Once again, I wish to point out that, in its final form, the County's Budget will only be about 15% of your total tax bill. The many services that are provided by this small percentage of the overall tax requirement, constitute one of the best "Bargains" that is made available to the tax payer.

Glades Courthouse Notes

By Mary Arthur Starling

Mr. Charles Maxon, Superintendent of the Road and Bridge Department, District 5, reports that a mobile radio station has been installed in the local road and bridge office. The vehicles in this department have been equipped with radios for approximately four years operating from the base station in West Palm Beach. This type of set-up necessitated radiowing the West Palm Beach station and they in turn had to phone messages back to the local office. The new installation will permit closer operations from field to office.

Road and Bridge Superintendent, Charles Maxon, stated that the paving of East and West Sugar House Roads will begin within the next few days. Other work scheduled to start approximately the same time, will be the paving of the approach to the recently widened bridge on Hatton Highway, the intersection at Duda Road and Airport Road and the two intersections of Airport Road and East and West Sugar House Roads.

Mrs. Barbara M. Pope, Counselor, Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, has returned to her office following a two weeks vacation. While on vacation Mrs. Pope took her children, Lewis, Norman, Sherman and Claire to visit Silver Springs and Six Gun Territory.

Mrs. Phyllis Wilkinson, Secretary, Juvenile and Domestic Relations Office, her husband, Ray and daughter, Suzanne have returned from a three weeks vacation touring the state. Included on their trip were a few days on the beach at Daytona and the "highlight" of their trip, a four day visit with Mrs. Wilkinson's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Endris, (Patty), of 4242 Ortega Boulevard, Apt. 25, Jacksonville, Fla. (Address included for friends of Patty's who wish to write.)
